In the Midway Park housing area, open areas with playgrounds have been provided as recreational areas for residents. However, lately the grass in these areas has grown so long that the areas cannot be used. They are hazardous for children to play in and are unsightly to look at. Can something be done about this?

The maintenance of lawns in the Midway Park housing area is provided for through a contract with a civilian company. Previously the contract did not include mowing the lawns in public areas. Howe the contract has been changed so that l maintenance in the public areas of Midway Par the responsibility of the contractor. Once the tractor has obtained the equipment necessary to the additional acreage, the grass in the Midway recreational areas will be cut on a regular basis. concern over the appearance of your housing is greatly appreciated.

About the cover

This week's cover features a watercolor and colored pencil painting done by Sgt. Brenda Carey.

Sergeant Carey is an illustrator at the Training and Audiovisual Support Center here.

She enlisted in the Marine Corps in June 1982, and reported to Camp Lejeune during Oct. 1986.

She previously served a tour at 29 Palms and has had several pieces of artwork published.

Marine cites Corps' training in halting armed assailant

"With complete disregard for his own safety and fully aware of the personal dangers involved..."

So states the award certificate presented to Sgt. James A. Neal, H&SCo., 2nd Radio Bn., for his actions on March 15, 1986 in Troy, Ala. Neal was awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal for heroism in his response to a gunman's assault at a local night club.

Sgt. James A. Neal

Neal, who is assistant shop chief at the French Creek motor maintenance pool, was serving as a recruiter in his hometown of Troy when the incident took place.

"While at a lounge, I heard several shots," said the 31-year-old Neal. "People were running out the door, and I saw a gunman trying to shoot a man.

"I first tried talking to him to calm him down," explained the six-foot-two-inch, 210-pound Marine. "Then he acted like he was going to shoot me, so I wrestled him to the ground and disarmed him and another round went off in the struggle."

"...saved several other people from serious injury or bodily harm..."

Three people were injured in the assault, including one man who later died at the hospital from a gunshot to the head.

"I performed CPR on the mortally wounded man until the ambulance arrived," said Neal.

Neal also kept the crowd from attacking the gunman after he had disarmed him.

"I let the law take care of him," he said.

Neal, who arrived at Camp Lejeune in July 1986, credits the Corps for instilling within him the bravery needed for his actions on that night in Troy.

"When I joined the Marines in '74," explained Neal, "it was right after the Vietnam War and in our training we were taught to react defensively to the situation.

"I was also an instructor in hand-to-hand combat training at the NCO Academy at Camp Pendleton in 1980," he said.

". . . thereby reflecting great credit upon himself and upholding the highest traditions of the Marine Corps and the United States Naval Service."

Mechanics swap their wrenches for M-16's

Story and photos by Sgt. Rodney Germain

Packing 782 gear along with toolboxes, MT Maint. Co., 2nd Maint. Bn. Marines force-marched their way to TLZ Falcon to get some real and practical field training under their belts.

Proving the point that they are Marines first, the company went through field tactics training while continuing to provide maintenance support for other Camp Lejeune units.

Marching two of the four duty sections at at a time to the training area, the company only lost about two hours down time, when they weren't able to provide service, according to Staff Sgt. James Curtis, company gunnery sergeant.

"We're still providing the same services we would if we were in garrison. That's what's so different about this field training," he said. "Our contact teams, and duty sections are getting trained in land navigation, rear area security, patrolling, mines and booby-traps, and still, they're getting their jobs done. The point is, our commanding officer, wants us to be not only technically proficient, but also tactically ready," he said.

Because a lot of the Marines are fresh from boot camp, this is the first taste of practical application they'll have, according to Maj. Ronald Throckmorton, company commander.

"The average Marine out here went through boot camp, then to Camp Johnson to learn his job, and then straight here," he said. "Where do they learn combat skills? Obviously they have to learn it here. That's why we do this. The situation can arise at any time where we have to pack up and go. We should know what to do."

2nd MarDiv. greets new commander

2nd Lt. Cathy Engels

"I wouldn't trade the ground I'm standing on with any other Marine officer wearing this uniform."

On that note, Maj. Gen. O.K. Steele accepted command of the 2nd Marine Division from Maj. Gen. Dennis J. Murphy at a mid-morning ceremony at W.P.T. Hill field Friday.

Marines representing each of the regiments of the division stood in front of an arrow-straight line of TOWS, 155mm Howitzers and the like and listened to speeches given by Maj. Gen. Murphy, Maj. Gen. Steele and Gen. A.M. Gray, Commandant of the Marine Corps.

"I like to think of you as the people who have kept the wolf away from our door for 212 years," said Gen. Steele to the members of the 2nd MarDiv. "We will continue to keep that wolf away from our door."

Major Gen. Steele comes to Camp Lejeune from Headquarters, Marine Corps where he served as the Legislative Assistant to the Commandant. He has had assignments in every climb and place throughout his career in the Corps, including MCRD, San Diego; 1st Marine Brigade, Hawaii; the Mountain Warfare Training Center and Vietnam to name a few.

"This is the tip of the cutting edge," he said.

FMFLant CG visits MAU afloat

Editor's note: The following is an update on the activities of the 22nd MAU currently deployed to the Mediterranean

PH2 Jeff De

In early October, the 22nd MAU passed through unseasonably calm waters of the Straits of Gibraltar and into the Mediterranean Sea to join the U.S. Navy's Sixth Fleet in operations.

Prior to their Atlantic crossing, the combined elements of 22nd MAU received a stimulating visit from Lt. Gen. Richard M. Cooke, FMFlant commanding general. The general's visit sparked heightened training for the Marines of the MAU as they steamed across the Atlantic to their destination.

The BLT conducted block training in first aid, NBC and unarmed combat training. They also conducted a unique eight kilometer conditioning hike through their ship, the USS Nassau.

Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-264 conducted day and night carrier landing. During night operations they trained with night vision goggles and stinger missiles. Once in the Med, HMM-264 flew missions in support of the supporting arms coordination exercise. Keeping their aircraft flying safely kept the maintenance department busy around the clock.

Dropping in unexpectedly or in unusual places seems to be a hallmark of 2nd ANGLICO Marines. ANGLICO Marines attached to the MAU conducted parachute training while Marines from the maritime special purpose force sharpened their marksmanship skills on individual and crew-served weapons.

Being aboard ship didn't det MAU Marines from staying in s using the ship's decks for running ween training and exercising, the relax and write letters home.

A MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDANT OF THE MARINE CORPS

This day, the 10th of November, is much more than just the anniversary of our beloved Corps. It is a celebration to commemorate the many achievements of our proud forefathers and to rededicate ourselves to the honor and privilege of bearing the title "United States Marine".

In the 212 years of our Corps, Marines have often been called upon to make great sacrifices in defense of democracy. Our predecessors have left us a legacy of honor, military virtue, and supreme courage in combat. But it is now up to use to continue to strive for that operational excellence necessary to win on the modern battlefield of today. This is our charter. Our Nation expects no less.

So as we gather together this year to celebrate our birthday, let us all reflect on those ideals which have made our Corps the "best of the best" for over two centuries. Whether your ceremony is large or small, the message remains the same. We are Marines, "the few and the proud", and we will do whatever needs to be done to maintain the sacred trust of the American people. Happy birthday, Marines!

Assailant

from Pg. 2A

In his awarding of the Navy and Marine Corps Medal, Neal became aware that the medals are not presented without a thorough and lengthy investigation.

"The detectives on the case notified the mayor of Troy about the incident, and from that I received a commendation from the mayor," said Neal. "Then my OIC from Montgomery, Ala., recommended me for the medal. Headquarters Marine Corps then began their own investigation using court testimony from eyewitnesses."

Neal was presented his medal in August of this year, almost 1½ years from the time of his heroism.

"I received my medal after the gunman was convicted in court," said Neal.

Neal is scheduled to be transferred to I&I duty in Miami, Fla., at the beginning of November.

"I don't know what I'll be doing there yet," said the soft-spoken Neal, "but I'll work in whatever they have available for me."

Whether it's supervising the mechanics of a motor pool or handling the paperwork as a personnel clerk, Neal is sure to succeed in Miami for the enthusiasm he seems to have for the Marines.

Highlights and happenings

Salute to the Constitution

A salute to the Constitution will highlight the annual "Culture Week in North Carolina" Nov. 6-10.

Waltye Rasulala, a local television personality, will be guest performer for the dinner program of the joint meeting of the N.C. Literary and Historical Association and the Federation of N.C. Historical Societies Nov. 6 at Raleigh's Brownestone Hotel.

Programs, meetings and meal functions are open to the public. Some meetings have registration fees and there will be charges for all meal functions. For details on the various programs, prices for meal functions or reservations, contact Becky Myer at (919) 733-7305.

Flea market rescheduled

The November Indoor Flea Market has been rescheduled for Dec. 5 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Marston Pavilion. Tables can be rented for $3. For more information, call 451-5052.

French Creek ball

The French Creek Enlisted Club Marine Corps Birthday Ball will be Nov. 9 from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. There is no cover charge and heavy hors d'oeuvres, cold beverages and coffee will be available. The uniform will be dress blues, alphas, bravos or seasonal alpha uniform.

Iwo Jima banquet

There will be an Iwo Jima Commemorative Banquet Feb. 20 at the Staff NCO Club, Camp Pendleton for the former members of the Third, Fourth and Fifth Marine Divisions and attached units who fought the costly battle.

The renowned Navajo Code Talkers will be honored. This famous organization supplied our Marines with a Communications Code that our enemies were never able to break, thereby, saving the lives of thousands of Marines. Recognition of their dedication and contribution is long overdue. A memorial service will be held at 4:30 p.m. prior to the banquet.

For more information, write Jack Claven at 403 Primose Pl., Glendora, Calif. 91740 or call (818) 335-2483.

Cakes, cakes, everywhere

Story and photos by Lance Cpl. Fred Charles

Some people, when it comes to baking, like to do things the old fashion way--from scratch.

So the next time a peckish urge strikes at an uncanny hour, try the recipe used by the folks at Mess Hall 325 to bake the Marine Corps birthday cakes:

764 lbs. of flour.
764 lbs. of sugar.
35 lbs. and 3/4 oz. of baking powder.
350 dz. plus two eggs.
286 lbs. and 8oz. of shortening.
29 gallons, 1 quart, 1 pint, 1 3/4 cups water

Bake at 450 degrees. Total baking time three weeks. Recipe yields 105 cakes or 5,986 lbs. of cake. For the household amount, divide each number by 105 (not to be confused with 212 years the Marines are celebrating) and bake for 30 minutes. Bon appetite!

Old typewriters come to life at repair shop

When a typewriter just can't keep pace with an admin clerk's fingers and breaks down, that clerk may become prone to anxiety attacks during the day and outbreaks of cold sweat at night. Marines in the 01 field know they'll probably never see their trusted and usually reliable old friend, the typewriter, again. Even more frightening to ponder is the question of a replacement machine. Will they indeed get one? Or will they have to become one of the dreaded 'Remington raiders' who begs, borrows or steals a typewriter in order to survive the onslaught of paperwork invading their desk daily? Will 'it be 'user-friendly'? Above all, admin types can't help but wonder where their dearly departed loved one is going to.

Wonder no more about where a broken typewriter ends up. Rest assured, it isn't destined to collect dust indefinitely or to harbor cobwebs on some shelf in an old damp, musky smelling basement. Oh, quite contrary! To an 01's surprise, he'll find the departed loved one in a clean, warm and brightly lit shop of ELMACO, or Electronics Maint. Co., 2nd FSSG.

Chances are good though, that he'll never see it again.

"The typewriters we get in to repair have been replaced with new electronic models or computers. Often the company no longer stocks the parts we need," said Gunnery Sgt. Robert Dyer, utility chief.

Part shortages or parts that no longer exist cause delays in business machines repaired. It's likely you'll see a new typewriter after you've turned in your old one for mending.

The culprit behind short parts or no parts is modern business machine technology itself, not the beaurocratic 'red-tape' everyone grumbles about.

But in typewriter repair the job isn't completely without paperwork.

"For every man-hour, we have nearly two hours of administrative work," Dyer said.

However, those man-hours used for a machine are wisely spent when a machine does come in for overhaul.

"We first clean the machine thoroughly; then we do a visual inspection for any apparent broken parts. After that, we begin a function check. All together we perform a 14-step inspection process which we repeat until we find the cause of the malfunction," said Lance Cpl. Arnold Hubble, an electronics technician.

Corporal Dennis Fowler works on a typewriter in the ELMACO shop. Be... a recent MOS consolidation, the repairmen are now generator mechanics

Typically, an IBM electric typewriter, for example, will take two to three hours to repair.

Unfortunately, because of 'high-tech', the 'techno-wizzards' at ELMACO find they don't always have the special tools to fix certain machines.

"It is a source of frustration for us. So when a new machine comes in for repair, we find ourselves improvising tools and doing a lot of OJT," said Dyer.

Every business machines technician at ELMACO learns his job through OJT. Although there is a formal Army ... for the technicians, they only le... basies about antiquated systen... school doesn't teach the basic ele... that ELMACO Marines use da...

Saturday night brought out the worst) in everyone as Camp Lesidents, young and old, turned elebrate Halloween.

ren adorned in costumes ranging evision superheroes to vicious corpses took to the streets, roamoulish packs from house to house n of the childhood prize...candy. he kids were not the only ones to the 'spirit'.

y Manor's annual answer to the ght photo) came out of the dark, n full witch's garb to offer her treats to curious youngsters. Complete with spider webs, eerie music and even the traditional cauldron, Witchy Poo transformed her front porch into a haunting spectacle. Miss Cathy's Witchy Poo character has become somewhat of a tradition for the children of here Berkely Manor neighborhood.

But Miss Cathy 's porch wasn't the only scarey place in town as visitors to the Marston Pavilion haunted house (photo above) found out. Vampires, ghosts and a host of scarey creatures made it a night to remember for all.

DEVILFISH

They're not a new species of marine life, they're Camp Lejeune's very own swim team

Camp Lejeune youths have taken to the water with the Devilfish Swimmers competing throughout eastern North Carolina in free-style, breastroke, butterfly, backstroke and individual medley events.

Cpl. Jack W. Solesky coaches the team and although this is his first season here, he's been a veteran of competitive swimming for 15 years.

I've been to all sorts of swimming camps and clinics. I'm just anxious to apply some of that experience here to help build up Lejeune's youth swimming program," Solesky said.

"We've got about twenty kids on the team now, but I'd like to have about 50. It's hard to put the points on the board with so few people."

Winning is important, but not the ultimate goal for Solesky. "I don't want to burn the kids out. I look for talent and if I see a child displaying talent, I'll work extra hard with them.

"There are swimming scholarships out there for the taking and I try and let the kids know that they're available. I received a swimming scholarship and I do my best to get the talented ones exposure. If the scouts are at the swimming meets, they'll be looking for up and coming talent."

What makes swimming exciting for Devilfish, Richard K. Petty, 16, who's been at the sport for 11 years now is the thrill of competition. "I've been at this for 11 years now and after the first year I had most of the strokes down, but it's taken me almost that whole time to perfect my butterfly stroke," Petty said.

Petty and his teammates will get their chance at Raleigh, Nov. 7. That will be the Devilfish's next swimming meet.

But the team has plenty of young beginners who will be giving meets a try for the first time this season.

Ingrid C. Eggleston, 8, has been at it for about four weeks and says she's going to stay with it, because she likes being able to stay in the water until 6 or 7 p.m. during practice nights.

The Devilfish, lead by Solesky, meet weeknights at the Area 5 Pool. They're looking for a few good fellow fish. Any children interested should stop by a practice.

Spare time? Try bowling to strike up a new hobby

Although it's been a while since the mp Lejeune Bonneyman Bowling nter has been open, ne Egyptians waited rally an eternity to from the dead to y the game. The game dates back the days of King t. As far back as 5200 ... Egyptians were ying objects in their bs for playing a ne similar to vling. Ancient Polynesians ed stones at objects feet away, the same ance from the one to the foul line today. ong before Dick Weber was ever n, the game of bowling had won the rts of the sports community the world r.

But now that contract workers and bowling center employees are putting the finishing touches on the revamped Bonneyman Center, active duty personnel, dependents and their guests will get their opportunity to have a ball at the bowling lanes here on base.

The only catch is if you borrowed it from the manager, Vernon D. Swaim, he insists you give it back when you're done playing.

"Bowling is an inexpensive means of recreation and it's the second most popular participatory sport in the United States," Swain said.

"There are still a few openings for teams now forming for the up and coming season. Lessons are available for all ages as well."

For more information, contact the base bowling center at 451-5121.

Getting to the point

Dart players to gather for tourney

By Cpl. Bruce Cobbeldick

Question: What contest involves pointed missiles travelling a high speeds and striking an unmoving object?

A Combined Arms Exercise maybe? No...

HINT: It attracts as many as 500,000 entrants from around the world and the finals are viewed by an estimated 12,000 spectators.

HINT: It was developed in England during the 15th century.

HINT: The pointed missiles are made of wood or metal and are about five to six and a half inches inches long.

HINT: The game involves throwing skill and the old, English pub past time is usually played indoors.

According to an English newspaper, The News of the World, it's darts.

Since the game of darts has gained considerable popularity in many regions of the globe, dart leagues and tourneys are on a steady rise.

Evidently Camp Lejeune has gotten the point, because on Nov. 26, there will be an intramural dart tournament held at 9 a.m. at Goettge Memorial Field House.

Teams will be limited to five players, however, units may enter as many teams desired.

Winners from 2nd MarDiv. and 2nd FSSG will go on to represent their units at the FMFLant dart tourney Dec. 7-11.

There will be an organizational meeting at noon, Nov. 25.

Individuals' personal darts are authorized and for those who are really sharp, awards will be presented to the winners and runner-ups.

In order to leave your mark, a letter to the base's athletic director should be submitted. The deadline is no later than 4:30 p.m.

"MAIL HANDLERS GIVES ME A CHOICE."

"I've had the same family doctor for 12 years now. And I wouldn't dream of giving him up just to join an HMO. My freedom of choice is too important.

That's why I chose the Mail Handlers Benefit Plan. It gives me the freedom to choose my own doctor and hospital.

LOW RATES

RATES FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES

STANDARD OPTION

| Self | Self and Family |
|---|---|
| $6.43 per pay period | $15.20 per pay period |

HIGH OPTION

|---|---|
| $1.61 per pay period | $3.80 per pay period |

HIGH OPTION

| Self | Self and Family |
|---|---|
| $2.36 per pay period | $6.10 per pay period |

Mail Handlers even gives me dental coverage (High Option only), hospital benefits, catastrophic protection, surgical benefits, plus a whole lot more—at very affordable rates. And I don't have to pay a large annual deductible.

All this, plus the freedom to choose my own doctor and hospital...who could ask for anything more?"

This is a summary of the features of the Mail Handlers Benefit Plan. Before making a final decision, please read the Plan's officially approved brochure (RI 71-7). All benefits are subject to the definitions, limitations, and exclusions set forth in the official brochure.

Go far in the Marine Reserve.

You'll have the opportunity to go far in the Marine Reserve. See exciting places you've never seen, or revisit a favorite or two. On your two weeks of annual training duty, you'll visit different parts of the country and the world.

The advanced training can also take you a long way. You'll keep your skills sharp, and learn new ones. The experience you get in the Marine Reserve could lead to better jobs and promotions in your civilian career.

You'll be well-paid for your one weekend a month and two weeks of annual training duty, and get great benefits including college tuition assistance under the new G.I. Bill, retirement, and limited PX and commissary privileges.

There are other special benefits too, like the pride you'll take in being back on the winning team, working with other Marines from your hometown.

So, if you've left active duty or are about to, plan to go far in the Marine Reserve. For more information on how to reserve your place on the team, call 1-800-THE-USMC or (919) 451-2221.

Federal employees: Get the health care plan that gives you a perfect balance between price and protection

Blue Cross and Blue Shield Standard Option

When you choose a health care plan, don't settle for less coverage than you need just to get a price you can afford. Instead, choose Blue Cross and Blue Shield Standard Option. It's the one health care plan that offers the perfect balance between price and protection: extensive coverage for you and your family at an easily affordable price. It's no wonder more federal employees choose Blue Cross and Blue Shield Standard Option than any other health care plan.

A winning price

We're doing everything we can to keep your rates down. Everything, that is, except compromising your protection. Standard Option for 1988 continues to set the standard in providing the best possible coverage at an easily affordable price.

If you're a postal employee, your bi-weekly rate for 1988 will be only...

$4.79 Individual $7.21 Family

If you're a non-postal federal employee, your bi-weekly rate for 1988 will be only...

$13.73 Individual $26.58 Family

If you're a retired federal employee, your monthly rate for 1988 will be only...

$29.75 Individual $57.58 Family

At these prices, Blue Cross and Blue Shield Standard Option continues to be one of the lowest cost plans available to all federal employees.

World class protection

No matter where you live or travel, Blue Cross and Blue Shield Standard Option provides you with the outstanding protection you'd expect from the leader in health care coverage.

In the hospital: Unlike some plans, Standard Option pays 100% of all hospital services for as long as you need to be hospitalized. That includes expensive services like operating rooms, intensive care units and X-rays, not just room and board. All you pay is the $100 hospital deductible and for personal items like phone calls.*

As an outpatient: If you have outpatient surgery, we pay 100% of all hospital charges and if you receive other types of outpatient care, we pay 75% of the charges, both after you've met the annual deductible.

And if by chance you have an accident, Standard Option pays 100% of the bill, with no deductible.

In your doctor's office: With Standard Option, you're always free to use the physician of your choice for such important services as surgery, maternity care, allergy tests and shots, X-ray and lab services, second surgical opinions and much, much more. And when you do, Standard Option pays 75% of the usual, customary and reasonable (UCR) charges, after the annual deductible.

In your dentist's office: Standard Option helps pay for a long list of dental services including exams, cleanings, extractions, and fillings. Benefits are paid according to a fee schedule with no yearly maximum and no deductible. And we pay an even larger portion of the bill for children up to age 13.

For young children: Standard Option pays 100% of the UCR charges for regular check-ups and immunizations for children up to age six. What's more, there's no deductible.

For prescriptions: If you've seen the prices on medications lately, you know how important it is to choose a plan that helps you pay for your prescription drugs. Standard Option does this two ways. To help you save on prescriptions you need on a recurring or extended basis, Standard Option has a special mail order program. When you order prescriptions through the mail, you pay only $5 each. We pay the rest. Imagine how much you'll save. And, for prescriptions you need in a hurry and have filled locally, Standard Option pays 75%, after the annual deductible.

Value that scores a perfect 10

The whole idea behind Standard O is value. Blue Cross and Blue Shiel Standard Option gives you the high of protection you need along with the lowest rates available to all fed employees. You get all this, plus th security of knowing that your Blue and Blue Shield card is the most w known and accepted health care c the world. When you get such a pe balance between what you pay an you get, there's only one word for i

A POOR SELF IMAGE

It can be the first sign of trouble.

When kids are totally down on themselves, it's hard for them to be happy about much else. It's a signal that something is wrong, and the condition is often related to an ongoing record of poor school performance. This failure to perform is an area that so dominates a child's life, it causes him to sense frustration and ridicule by family members and peers. It can result in development of negative attitudes, disassociation with friends, and highly stressful relationships with family members.

If this sounds like someone you know, it may be a message to look deeper. Don't wait for things to get worse . . . that's how tragedies occur. Start by contacting the Brynn Marr Hospital HELPLINE to schedule a free evaluation.
